PUIG DES MOLINS

PUIG DES MOLINS' MONOGRAPHIC MUSEUM AND NECROPOLIS

We propose that the visit to the Puig des Molins' Monographic Museum and necropolis be for every visitor a "journey to Death in Ancient Ibiza." A metaphorical journey to meet the Ibizans that passed away many centuries ago. An immersion into the minds of the societies that in ancient antiquity inhabited the city of Ibiza; into their understanding of death, their beliefs, fears and hopes about the afterlife, and the funerary rites they developed accordingly.

In short, an initiatory journey that, in addition to providing knowledge about the past, is, above all, an incentive for reflecting on ourselves: What do we believe about death? What do we feel when we think about it? What attitudes and behaviours do we develop when someone near to us dies? In what ways are they alike and how do they differ from those of our parents or grandparents? And from those of antiquity? What do we think will happen to us when our time comes?
